From Routledge : Governing Financial Globalization: International Political Economy and Multi-Level Governance (RIPE Series in Global Political Economy) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Governing Financial Globalization: International Political Economy and Multi-Level Governance (RIPE Series in Global Political Economy):

Money, finance and credit are literally the lifeblood of the modern economy. The distribution of money and credit are essential to productive investment in trade and industry, to the maintenance of consumer purchasing power and demand, to individuals' social status and standard of living, and ultimately to public order. This important new volume provides a wide-ranging discussion of both the potential and the problems arising from the application of multi-level governance literature to the monetary and financial domain. The contributors achieve this through a range of case studies and conceptual discussions of the issues raised by financial and monetary governance, acknowledging that multi-level governance has to take the form of a framework which recognizes a fluid range of scales, and the significance of non-formal institutional and social nodes of authority.
