Doupnik : International Accounting before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised International Accounting:

Five StarsBy Paul EllisGives excellent examples and explanations of IFRS and the logic behind the regulations.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Very good alternativeBy MadMikeit was in English and had all the same chapters at the vastly more expensive versions you will find in your local campus bookstore. It is paperback and the paper is a little rougher... But who cares when you are paying 1/20 the price for the same content?Recommend.1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Good reference book, first time renting a textbookBy Avm0510Very good reference book, currently using for a masters degree class. It is my first time renting a book, I will post an updates review including the rental experience once I return it.

The Fourth Edition of International Accounting provides an overview of the broadly defined area of international accounting, but also focuses on the accounting issues related to international business activities and foreign operations.

This edition also includes substantially updated coverage of the International Accounting Standards Board (IASB) and International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS). The unique benefits of this textbook include its up-to-date coverage of relevant material, extensive numerical examples provided in most chapters, two chapters devoted to the application of International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS), and coverage of nontraditional but important topics such as strategic accounting issues of multinational companies, international corporate governance, and corporate social responsibility reporting.

About the Author Timothy S. Douppnik is the Cramer Fellow in International Accounting at the University of South Carolina. He received his Ph.D. in Accounting from the University of Illinois. Tim is a past president of the International Accounting Section of the American Accounting Association. He currently serves as an associate editor for the Journal of International Accounting Research and on the editorial board of several other international journals.
