Trevor Hopper, Robert Scapens, Deryl Northcott : Issues in Management Accounting before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Issues in Management Accounting:

Pooling the expertise of leading researchers Issues in Management Accounting critically explores a broad range of issues in a concise, digestible style. Both students and practitioners specialising in this area will find this book an essential guide to the many developments affecting management accounting theory and practice.

From the Back Cover Pooling the expertise of leading researchers, Issues in Management Accounting critically explores a broad range of issues in a concise, digestible style. Both students and practitioners specialising in this area will find this book an essential guide to the many developments affecting management accounting theory and practice. This third edition presents completely new and original chapters, written by leading experts in management accounting. Each chapter focuses on a specific emerging topic of contemporary interest, explores research and practical developments in the area, and concisely summarises the current issues of contention and debate. Topics discussed in this new edition of the text include:

- Management Accounting for consumerism
- The balanced scorecard
- National culture and management control
- The changing role of management accountants
- Management Accounting and accountants in the public sector
- Knowledge resources and Management Accounting
- MA innovations.

Issues in Management Accounting is designed to complement upper level undergraduate, postgraduate and professional studies, and will also be of value to practitioners and academics investigating contemporary aspects of management accounting.
